Dear Sir:

In response to the "Notification of Defective Response" mailed April 18, 2002, Applicant submits the following.

The Notification states that the current translation of the application is defective because "drawings are missing." However, in a telephonic conversation with Applicant's representative on May 9, 2002, Ms. Paulette Kidwell of the Office clarified that the drawings were not missing, but rather that the translation of the application was defective because the text in the drawings was not in English.

By this paper Applicant submits a replacement set of drawings having the relevant text translated into English. With reference to Figures 6, 7, 9, and 16, the text labeling certain elements of one or more user interfaces is not in English since it has no technical import and is used merely as a generic labeling means. Ms. Kidwell stated that it is not necessary to translate the labeling text of Figures 6, 7, 9 and 16.

Appl. No. : 09/869,182
Filed : June 22, 2001

Accordingly, Applicant submits that the replacement set of drawings filed herewith make the application complete and ready for acceptance under 35 U.S.C. § 371.

The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge only those additional fees which may be required, now or in the future, to avoid abandonment of the application, or credit any overpayment to Deposit Account No. 11-1410.

Respectfully submitted,
